Monthly Indicators

December 2015

In 2015, national residential real estate, by and large, had a good year. Supply and demand were healthy in an environment rife with low interest rates and improved employment. The Federal Reserve finally increased short-term rates in December, and more increases are expected in 2016. Housing markets have shown a willingness to accept this. Save for a few expensive outliers where low inventory and high prices have become the norm, a balanced market is anticipated for much of the country for the foreseeable future. Improved inventory and affordability remain key factors for continued optimism.

Closed Sales decreased 8.7 percent for Detached homes but increased 0.3 percent for Attached homes. Pending Sales increased 8.0 percent for Detached homes and 15.1 percent for Attached homes. Inventory decreased 21.1 percent for Detached homes and 33.2 percent for Attached homes.

The Median Sales Price was up 8.9 percent to $539,000 for Detached homes and 10.4 percent to $359,750 for Attached homes. Days on Market decreased 14.6 percent for Detached homes and 28.0 percent for Attached homes. Supply decreased 25.9 percent for Detached homes and 41.7 percent for Attached homes.

Gross Domestic Product increased at an annual rate near 2.0 percent to close 2015, and that rate is expected to increase next year. Residential real estate is considered a healthy piece of the national economy. Contributing factors from within the industry include better lending standards and foreclosures falling back to more traditional levels. Declining unemployment, higher wages and low fuel prices have also conspired to improve personal budgets.
